Would you be so kind to visit URL about our recent (2014) book "The Aral Sea - The Devastation and Partial Rehabilitation of a Great Lake":

<http://www.springer.com/environment/environmental+management/book/978-3-642-02355-2>

May be you could order this book for your library?

We did not see much activity on the board forum in the past days. Next week (February 9-15) I will be traveling (Ljubljana, Slovenia). After my return I will start summarizing the discussions, we can then formally approve reports, vote on any items that need decisions, and the rest we can do at the general assembly of the society in China.

Dear all,

tomorrow I am going to Iran and I shall be back to our Forum February,24th on arrival back to my Lab in Zoological Institute RAS in St-Petersburg.
In Iran I shall visit Urmia Lake. We would like to save it.
May be it will be wise to add new topic SAVE URMIA LAKE.
Am I right?

Dear All,
as I write already that yesterday night I came home from Islamic Republic of IRAN.
It will be wise to add new topic SAVE URMIA LAKE

There has been very little activity on the board forum lately. I would like to close this board meeting no later than March 31. In the period April 1 - 11 I will be teaching our marine microbiology course in Eilat, and later in April I will have two trips abroad. That means that I will have very little time for ISSLR-related issues. So please add any further comments and any proposals that need to be voted on as soon as possible. After March 31 this forum will remain open for updates toward the China symposium and toward the general members' assembly to be held at the time of the symposium.
